

NEW TYPE COTTON TO BE SHOWN

Preview of a new type, wilt-resistant cotton will be given Tulare county farmers tomorrow, Friday, at two field demonstrations in southeastern Tulare county.

At 2 p.m., a field meeting will be held at the Guido Lombardi ranch, one mile north of Burton school on Westwood road, west of Porterville; at 10 a.m. tomorrow, the new type cotton will be shown at the M. A. Paggi ranch, near Tipton, two miles east of 99 highway on the Woodville highway, then one mile north.

Farm Advisor Ralph Worrell, who will conduct the meetings, states that the new cotton strain is not entirely immune to wilt disease, but it does show considerably more resistance than common seed now planted. In test plots at the Paggi and Lombardi ranches, a heavier than ordinary crop is being produced, since less damage from wilt was encountered.

Mr. Worrell states that seed of the wilt-resistant strain will be available for general planting in two or three years. The two demonstrations tomorrow are open to anyone interested.

Memorial Board Will Consider Other Sites

Members of the Porterville Veterans' Memorial district board of directors will consider other possible locations for a veterans' memorial building as a result of action taken Monday evening at a meeting of the board in the Porterville city hall.

County Planning Engineer Earl Ingram will be asked to meet with the board to reconsider possible sites for a building. Decision to consult with Mr. Ingram was made on motion of Willard Wall, secretary. (Continued on Page 3)

Option Accepted On Springville Site

An option on 2.6 acres of Dillon Wood property at Springville, priced at $8,000, as a location for a veteran memorial building in Springville, was accepted Monday evening by the board of directors of the Porterville Veterans' Memorial district. The option is good until October 30, 1951.

Director Aubrey M. Lumley Jr., stated that the option probably will be exercised at the next regular meeting of the board; he also stated that residents of the Springville district, through their organized groups, should "get together" on the type of building needed.

No definite statement as to possible cost of the Springville building was made; although Mr. Lumley did mention a sum of $40,000 and no definite commitment was made as to when the building might be constructed.

Representing Springville at the meeting were: Roland Killian, Ted Morgan, G. C. Ruby and A. J. Lapi.

Sportsmen Set Turkey Shoot Date

Two Five-Stand Gins Added By Tule River Coop

Two five-stand gins, in addition to the 10-stand gin at Woodville, will be operated this season by the Tule River Cooperative gin, with the new equipment now being completed at Bliss Lane, on the Tulare-Lindsay highway, and at Quail, near the Ben Lapadula ranch east of Tipton.

The new equipment represents an investment of more than $350,000. The plant at Quail is now receiving "final touches" and the Bliss Lane plant should be ready within a few days.

The new construction program was entered into this year, it is stated, in order to handle a record output of cotton and to provide a more convenient service to members of the Tule River cooperative. As located geographically, the three plants, Quail, Bliss Lane and Woodville, are in a triangle and, generally speaking, growers will deliver their cotton to the nearest plant.

It is expected that all three (Continued on back page)

Cloud Seeding Meeting Sept. 21

Ranchers of southeastern Tulare county and northern Kern county will meet at the Ducor Women's club the evening of Friday, September 21, to discuss the possibility of renewing cloud seeding operations to increase rainfall during the winter months.

The meeting is being called by officers of the Southern Sierra corporation, a non-profit group set up last year to contract for cloud seeding in the area generally between Lewis creek on the north to Kern river on the south and between 99 highway and the mountains.

Although cards will be sent to ranchers who participated financially in the program last year, Ralph Jones, Porterville, corporation secretary, states that all interested ranchers are urged to attend.

Following last season's cloud seeding operation, F. R. Farnsworth, White River, corporation president, stated that while it is difficult to completely analyze results of cloud seeding after only a single season of operation, a number of factors indicated that cloud seeding had been beneficial.

He pointed out that no claim is made that cloud seeding can create storms to produce rain; that cloud seeding is merely a method of getting more rain out of storms that develop naturally.

To be discussed at the Ducor meeting will be the question of continuing cloud seeding operations and methods and basis of financing the operation.

Year Around Flowers

Year-around color can be had in your garden if you are careful in selection of flowering shrubs. Vernon T. Stoutmeyer, California college of agriculture professor, reminds that in many areas shrubs can be planted that will provide flowers throughout almost the entire year.

FARM PRICES IN STATE LOWER OR UNCHANGED

Average prices received by California farmers for a majority of their products were unchanged, or lower, as of mid-August, as compared to a month earlier, according to a report released this week by the California Crop and Livestock Reporting service.

Prices for several commodities including dried beans, cotton lint, veal calves, lambs and wool continued to decline during the month ending August 15. Barley, potatoes, grapefruit and turkey prices were also lower than in mid-July.

During the same period orange and lemon prices rose sharply. Prices for milk cows, chickens and eggs increased moderately, while beef cattle and hog prices advanced to the highest level since March of this year.

Prices paid by producers for nearly all livestock and poultry feeds were the same as a month ago. The only exceptions were slightly higher prices for mixed dairy feeds, laying mash and mill run.

GREAT TADOO about no mention of Porterville in Life magazine's story on San Joaquin valley millionaires should be directed at Life, not the Porterville, or Tulare county chambers of commerce . . . The fact is that Life photographers took a number of pictures in the Porterville area and writers sent in considerable information — all of which was edited out in the New York office of Life.

RESERVE GRAND CHAMPION sow shown last week by Rolla Bishop at the California state fair was sired by none other than that famous Monache Farm boar-Farm Tribune. Or we should say the late Farm Tribune boar, since this fine Poland China went lame during his second season and ended up at the auction . . . Which leads us to remark that while we were in the Poland China business, we never could beat Bishop, but at least Rolla was worried enough so that he got a Tribune herd boar in order to protect himself. . . . Incidentally, those fine pork products from champion Poland Chinas go on sale again September 29, when Loretta and Rolla open their Monache Sausage kitchen for the coming season.

IF YOUR Farm Tribune bill was late this month, don't blame the postoffice. Instead of putting out the bills when we were supposed to we took the small fry on a camping trip . . . Report is that fishing is good in the Centra Valley canal. And what a fine swimming pool could be constructed at one of the outlets from the canal; probably would be a sideline money-making deal for an irrigation district. BUT DON'T SWIM IN THE CANAL. THEY HAVE TROUBLE FINDING YOUR BODY . . . Time is slipping along. It's next Tuesday that the Tulare County fair opens and on Sunday, the 23rd, Porterville's Fair Canterbelles ride in both the afternoon and evening grandstand programs.

Culling Dairy Herds Classed As Good Management

Annual culling of dairy herds is considered good management, according to Farm Advisor Ross Thomas, who states that percentage of culling can be held at a minimum by a program based on good breeding, good feeding and disease control.

Out of 20 cows culled, on an average, seven are removed for low production, according to Mr. Thomas, two for udder trouble, one for abortion, two for sterility, one for old age, four for sale and three for other reasons.

Check Farm Accidents This Fall

By Ralph L. Worrell,
Farm Advisor

A report just received by the Agricultural Extension service of the University of California from the State Division of Industrial safety shows that the fall months are generally the worst months of the whole year for farm accidents. September and October have the dubious honor of being the highest months of the year for injuries and deaths on the farm.

The early fall months are the peak months of the year for harvesting of most farm crops. Probably for that reason there is a greater number of farm accidents there than any other time of the year. Farmers are anxious to get their crops harvested and workers are anxious to pick as much of the crop per day as possible.

This means that perhaps both the farmer and the worker get a little bit careless as to working conditions and how the job is done. However, a little care on the part of both the farmer and the worker may save a lot of suffering and perhaps a lot of time being wasted in the hospital.

Working surfaces can be made safe. Ladders can be used safely. Vehicles can be driven courteously and safely. Hand tools can be used properly and with safety.

A safety attitude is the cheapest and the finest safeguard available. It will prevent about 98% of all accidents. Remember, the life you save may be your own.

SALES INCREASE

Total taxable retail sales in Tulare county during 1950 amounted to $112,507,000, an increase of five per cent over the previous year.

VET FARMS

California veterans are financing 307 farms in 43 counties under provisions of the California Cal-Vet program. The state has advanced $2,554,877 toward veteran purchase of farms.

FEDERAL HANDOUTS PART OF SOCIALIZATION

Federal grants to states are one of the most insidious causes of swollen government budgets, Dr. George Cline Smith, executive secretary of the chamber of commerce of the United States, told the government research association at a recent luncheon meeting in Washington.

Dr. Smith also stated that federal handouts are part of a blueprint for socializing America.

"As long ago as 1929," he said, "Dr. Harold Laski, 'the father of British socialism,' developed an action program for American socialists. As one of his five major steps in socializing America, Laski told the party to work toward high taxes, with the money to be parcelled out as grants to the states in order to equalize incomes. The federal grant, Laski said, 'lies at the heart of socialism.'

"The idea that Federal money can work magic is one of the great delusions of our time," Dr. Smith said. "All tax money, in the end, comes from people. There are no Federal taxpayers who aren't also state or local taxpayers; and barring a few exceptional cases, state and local needs can be taken care of by the state and local money."

PVT. JOSEPH ALLEN DAVIS, husband of Mrs. Kathryn Joann Davis and son of Mrs. Ethel L. Davis, Porterville, has been inducted into the army and is now taking eight-week basic infantry training at Fort Ord.

HANK COOKSEY, will be the chef in charge of the cafeteria at this year's Tulare County fair, with Fair Manager Alfred J. Elliott stating that throughout the fair, September 18 to 23, an inexpensive luncheon will be served until 2:30 p.m. each day and with the regular dinner menu available up to 9 p.m.

Published Weekly at Porterville, California
522 North Main Street Porterville, California

John H. Keck, William E. Rodgers - Co-Publishers

The Farm Tribune was declared a Newspaper Of General Circulation on January 10, 1949, by judgement of the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the County of Tulare.

NEW LOCATION IS BEST LOCATION FOR TULARE COUNTY COURTHOUSE

In considering the question of whether or not a new Tulare county courthouse should be built, and where it should be placed, several factors should be considered:

1. Without doubt, space now available for county offices and functions is not adequate;
2. With continued growth of Tulare county, bringing with it continued demands on county government, still greater space requirement must be anticipated for the future;
3. Location of a new courthouse must be viewed in light of convenience to the entire county, not to a few business men of Visalia.

We doubt that a satisfactory courthouse construction program can be worked out on the present courthouse location. Space just isn't there; parking problem will continue to exist; if the county acquires additional adjacent property, cost will be great — probably considerably more than is being paid for the present new location.

From the standpoint of convenience, we would prefer a courthouse away from the center of Visalia, and we assume most persons who are not in business near the present courthouse, particularly residents of towns other than Visalia, would have a similar preference.

The choice, as we see it, lies between one location, the present location, that is already crowded and will always be crowded unless an expensive property purchase program is entered into, and a new location with not only space to accommodate present county building needs, but also needs for some time in the future.

Either program is going to be expensive, but certain public needs on the county level must be taken care of.

And we must agree with those supervisors who favor a new courthouse location. We can't say that we have agreed with their methods of arriving at their present position in regard to a new county courthouse, but certainly the results they seek — a new courthouse on a new location — appear to us to be the most logical solution to the problem of housing the offices of county government.

GENERAL RIDGEWAY WILL RECEIVE PRIZE RAISIN PIE

General Mathew B. Ridgeway, commander of U. N. troops in Korea, will be sent a raisin pie from the prize winning recipe that is picked in the "Best Raisin Pie" contest that will be one of the features of the 1951 Tulare County fair.

Judges will select the best pie during the contest. The person baking this pie will then be asked to bake another pie for the general — a pie that will be flown to Japan with compliments of the California raisin industry.

Women — or men — entering the raisin pie contest, are asked to bring their pies to the Women's Arts and Crafts building on the fair grounds, September 22, between the hours of 9 and 10 a.m. Judging will begin at 11 a.m.

Part of the daily milk quota may reach the youngster in a favorite dessert, as this orange tapioca pudding.

A diller, a dollar, a very bright scholar. Bright indeed, if the scholar gets plenty of the right foods. Milk to drink and dishes made with milk head the list of foods children need for growth and health. A favorite with youngsters and good for them, too, is creamy milk-rich tapioca pudding. They love it especially with fruit as described here.

Orange Tapioca

- 1 egg white
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 egg yolk
- 2 cups milk
- 2 or 3 tablespoons sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
- 1/4 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/2 teaspoon grated orange rind (optional)
- 1 orange, sectioned, free from membrane

Beat egg white until foamy throughout; add 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 tablespoon at a time, and continue beating with rotary egg beater until mixture will stand in soft peaks. Set aside.

Mix egg yolk with about 1/4 cup of milk in saucepan. Add 2 or 3 tablespoons sugar, salt, tapioca, and remaining milk. Place over medium heat. Cook until mixture comes to a boil, stirring constantly—this takes 5 to 8 minutes.

Pour small amount of hot tapioca mixture gradually on beaten egg-white blending well. Then quickly add the remaining mixture, stirring constantly. (The hotter the tapioca and the faster it is blended in, the thicker and fluffier the pudding will be.) Add vanilla and orange rind. Cool, stirring once after 15 to 20 minutes. Chill. Place in serving dishes. Arrange orange sections on top. Makes 4 or 5 servings.

NAVEL CROP IS ESTIMATED AT 10,000 CARS

Stanley F. Trueblood, manager of the Tulare County Fruit Exchange, in reporting to the board of directors Monday afternoon, stated that preliminary estimates indicate the oncoming Navel crop for Central California will equal or exceed in volume the crop of last year.

Preliminary figures indicate a possible 10,000 car crop of Navels compared to a 9,000 car crop harvested last season. Present size measurements show individual fruits to be the same or larger than last season in many instances. Mr. Trueblood stated that the official Orange Administrative committee estimate will be released shortly.

Southern County Girls Are Winners In State Judging

Tulare county was represented by six 4-H girls who participated in the advanced division of the clothing judging contest held at the State fair Saturday, September 8 according to Betty Warmuth, 4-H Home advisor.

All of the contestants were blue ribbon award winners. They were: Karen Mays, Success Valley; Rowena Peterson, Kings River; Virginia Andreas, Earlimart; Marilyn Wilson, Success; Frances Wilson and Dickie Wilson both of the Burton 4-H Club.

This was the first opportunity Tulare county 4-H girls have had to participate in a clothing judging contest. The educational values of judging 4-H garments has much merit and this experience will be available to all 4-H clothing members later in the 1951-52 club year, announces Miss Warmuth.

STATE COTTON CROP INDICATED 1,800,000 BALES

September 1 prospects for the entire United States indicates a crop of 17,229,000 bales, a slight improvement over the August 1 estimate, with 28,544,000 acres harvested.

INS UR EATHERS

By Phil The Forester

The female deer hunt planned for the Doyle herd in Lassen, Plumas and Sierra counties and the one for the Devil's Garden in Modoc county have received all necessary approval.

These two controlled hunts will be from November 3 to 11, inclusive with 1,700 permits being issued for the Doyle area and 2,300 for Devil's Garden. The bag limit will be one female deer.

Hunters must apply for a permit on a special application blank obtainable where hunting licenses are sold. They must be mailed so as to arrive at the fish and game office in Sacramento before the close of business October 3. So that hunters may go together, two applications in one envelope will be accepted.

Drawing for the total of 4,000 permits will be determined by lottery to be held in Sacramento, October 9.

Although there has been and still is considerable criticism of any season on female deer, nevertheless, thousands upon thousands of hunters desire to participate in any such hunts.

The recent Santa Barbara county antlerless deer hunt applications were issued on a first come first served basis in Lompoc starting at 9 a.m., on a Saturday. Although only 550 permits were to be issued, the line of applicants started forming at midnight Thursday. The hunters brought their sleeping bags, mattresses, etc., and by midnight Friday, approximately 1,000 persons were in line.

For the first 28 days of the legal buck season 13,576 deer had been bagged which is one-third more than for the same period last year. If the Sierra season produces as expected, this year's buck kill will perhaps set a record.

Striped bass are running at Franks Tract, and big ones too. Many boats are bringing in limits.

Waterfowl season as fixed for California from October 26 to December 24 seems to have met general approval although most hunters feel the duck population war-proval although most hunters feel the duck population warranted a larger bag and possession limit than the six allowed.

Wild band-tailed pigeons will be legal game starting one-half hour before sunrise on Sunday. Under ordinary circumstances, this period is too early for any worthwhile flock of birds to be seen in the San Joaquin valley area. The second half of the split season starting December 17 will be more beneficial to local hunters. The bag and possession limit will be six birds. Last year, a few hunters who were acquainted with local conditions took pigeon limits in Kern county during the early season.

Salmon fishing at the mouth of the Klamath river is reported very good and also worthwhile in the San Francisco area although the fish are not running too large.

Lots of dove hunters were arrested in the San Joaquin valley for shooting from an automobile. Many with the same intentions however were saved from being apprehended because they were not caught in the act. After September 22 it will be illegal to even have a loaded gun in a car.

RESISTANT ROOT SOUGHT FOR CONTROL OF STONE FRUIT DISEASE

Search for resistant root and intermediate stocks is the newest approach by the University college of agriculture to control bacterial canker or sour sap of stone fruits. This is a serious disease of plum, peach, apricot, and cherry trees, say W. H. English, division of plant pathology and C. J. Hansen, division of pomology.

GLASS REPLACEMENT; CAR REPAIRS; TIRES ARE OFFERED AT VALLEY BODY COMPANY

SHOWN ABOVE is the place you are looking for — the VALLEY BODY COMPANY — at Morton and Second streets in Porterville when you need such specialized work on your car as glass replacement, tires, axle and wheel repair, wheel alignment, painting, or any of the other bringtning-up jobs a car needs periodically.

RIGHT NOW, Floyd Briggs, owner of VALLEY BODY, is offering a money-saving sale on tires, and Floyd says that he gives the biggest trade-in allowance in town. And there is no doubt about the products he handles, since his tires, and accessories, are of the nationally known FIRESTONE brand.

AND THERE is no better time than the present to have broken or discolored glass replaced in your car, since the rainy season is coming on and since, in any weather, broken and discolored glass is a hazard to the driving safety of you and your family. Floyd can replace windshields, door glass and rear windows; his prices are reasonable and his work tops.

THEN THERE'S the matter of a paint job on your car. VALLEY BODY has modern equipment and paint room; the color you want is available and the paint job, as well as all other work, is guaranteed without question.

A THOROUGH job of car reconditioning is offered at VALLEY BODY in case you are involved in an automobile accident, but rather than let needed repairs slide until you possibly have an accident as a result of some mechanical defect, your best bet is to let Floyd give your car a "safety check" that takes care of wear and tear before they become serious.

CARRIED AT VALLEY BODY is an extensive line of Firestone products, including some excellent seat covers. In fact, Floyd can take care of just about anything your car needs in the way of accessories.

FLOYD HAS been offering a friendly car service in Porterville since 1925; he has been in his present location since 1927. His ability in his field is indicated by the fact that he has travelled throughout the valley installing frame and axle equipment and instructing in its use.

HOME ADVISOR GROUP LEADERS PLAN FALL PROGRAM FOR COUNTY ACTIVITY

A home demonstration meeting on the subject of "Brighten Your Home," is scheduled for the residence of Mrs. Florence Bowles, Alta Vista, September 28 at 2 p.m., with Home Advisor Clara E. Cowgill asking women attending to bring samples of fabrics, wall papers, tile, rug material or linoleum as suggestions for color plans.

At a recent Visalia meeting, home advisor group leaders from throughout the county made plans for the fall home demonstration program, with subjects to include, in addition to "Brighten Your Home," "Attractive Bedrooms," "Toys for the Pre-School Child from Inexpensive and Waste Materials" and "Healthful Sweets." Attending this meeting from southeastern Tulare county was Mrs. Lucille Fittro, Alta Vista. Other group leader meetings have been scheduled by Miss Cowgill for September 25 and 26.

HAROLD SCHUTT, Lindsay, president of the Tulare County Historical Society, reports that public opinion seems to favor some type of celebration next year to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the forming of Tulare county. A county-wide meeting to make more definite plans for a celebration will be held in Visalia, September 20.

"FEEL" OF CLOTH NO LONGER GUIDE IN TELLING QUALITY OF SUIT MATERIAL

By Clara E. Cowgill, Home Advisor Times have changed since you could judge the quality of a man's suit by the feel. Feel may be deceiving, so you should examine the labels on the material to be sure of the desired quality.

Labeling tags on suitings that contain wool are required by the Wool Products Labeling act of 1939. These tags are not a complete guide to cloth quality, but they do tell the kind of wool the suiting contains; how much wool it contains; the percentage of other fibers added to the wool, if any; and the name of the manufacturer.

The term "wool" on the label means that all the fibers are animal. They may be new fibers, in which case they are "virgin wool," or they may be reclaimed fibers from spun or knitted products that have never been worn or used.

"Reprocessed wool" is made from scraps and cuttings of wool fabrics that have never been used. The pieces are torn up and made into new materials.

"Re-used wool" is made from worn or used wool fabrics. These are the materials the rag dealers collect. The materials are cleaned, sorted, and torn apart. The fibers are short and weak, so they are usually mixed with other fibers to make new cloth.

Wool blends contain a percentage of wool and synthetic or natural fibers.

Reprocessed and re-used wool may serve well for the price you pay. The same is true of wool blends. However, for long, hard wear, 100 percent virgin worsted wool is the best.

104,500 TONS OF RAISINS ON TRAYS SEPT. 4

The equivalent of 104,500 tons of natural dried raisins will result from that portion of the crop placed on trays to the close of September 4, it was announced this week by the California Crop and Livestock Reporting.

This estimate relates only to Thompson Seedless, Muscat and Sultan varieties in the seven counties of Kern, Kings, Tulare, Fresno, Madera, Merced, and Stanislaus. The estimate of 104,500 tons would be approximately 79 per cent of the state total production of natural raisins of these three main varieties in 1950.

This survey also indicates that raisin grape growers in these seven counties, as of September 4, intended to harvest 119,000 acres, of these three main varieties of raisin grapes, for the production of both natural and bleached raisins, or about the same as reported in late August.

If this acreage is actually harvested for this use, it will be 11 per cent more than was harvested in 1950. Approximately 82,300 acres, or 38 per cent of the total bearing acreage of the three varieties covered in the area surveyed, were indicated to have been harvested to the close of September 4, 1951.

S/SGT. BUD MILINICH, recently visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Milinich, Porterville. He was on a 14-day leave from Fort Sheridan, Ill., where he is a gun commander on an anti-aircraft gun team. A member of both Porterville high school and college football teams in past years, he is now working out with the army team at Fort Sheridan.

ROTATION OF GRAZING IS STUDIED TO GIVE EFFICIENT PASTURE USE

By Ralph L. Worrell,
Farm Advisor

The most efficient system of rotation grazing in California's irrigated pastures is the object of growth interval studies being carried on by M. L. Peterson of the agonomy division of the University of California at Davis.

Spacing the grazing intervals at three to five weeks markedly increases the pasture yields, according to Peterson. Average yields in Davis trials were greater by 20 per cent when three instead of two weeks were allowed for regrowth. Lengthening the interval to four weeks gave nearly a 50 per cent increase in harvest, and the amount was almost doubled at five weeks. Alfalfa-grass mixtures gave the greatest $22.00. Commercial and good slaughter calves $29.50 to $35.50, few choice $36.00 to $37.00, utility down to $26.00. Bulk good and choice mixed stock calves 350 lbs.

up $37.00 to $39.50, common and medium $27.00 to $35.00. Few good light stock calves under 300 lbs., $40.00 to $42.00.

At the Tulare Farm Bureau auction, Sept. 5, a couple lots sold at $23.00, single 250 lb.

butcher $22.50, and odd head 500 increase amounting to 154 per cent when the growth interval was extended to five weeks.

Offsetting the increased yield, however, were reduced quality of the feed, increased waste, and the additional expense for fencing greater numbers of pasture units.
In addition, grasses became less abundant with the less frequent clipping, particularly in alfalfa.

Livestock producers who desire the most feed of the best quality from their pastures should give careful attention to their grazing rotation program.

Joe Duggan Not Joe Duggan

Joe Duggan, of Duggan Pipe Works, has been receiving considerable comment from his friends since a Joe Duggan, 22, was fined $50 last week for shooting doves out of a vehicle. Joe Duggan, of the Pipe Works, wants to make it clear that he is not the Joe Duggan who was fined, but hastens to remark that he would gladly pay the $50 fine if he could be 22 again.

Memorial Board

ended by Reuben Gilman.

Offered at the meeting by Ted Cornell was a building site between Indiana and Cottage avenue. About 13 1/2 acres are in the piece, with Mr. Cornell stating that the board could have all or any part of it; he said he would state a price on the property when the board indicated an interest in the property and said how much it wanted.

Board members discussed with Mr. Cornell the possibility of securing Olive street frontage in connection with his property. He said that he would check possibilities.

Statement was made by board members that two other building sites have been submitted to the board. They declined to say where these sites are located until they can be checked and the property tied up if the board should decide to take either site.

No action was taken by the board concerning condemnation of Sinarle property on west Olive street, condemnation action by the board still pending on this property.

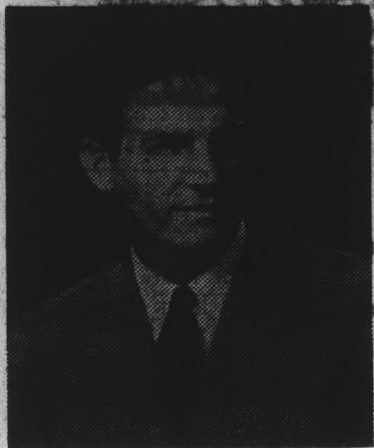

Attending the Monday meeting were Directors Aubrey M. Lumley Jr., Willard Wall and Reuben Gilman and Attorney Guy Knupp Jr. Absent were Directors Bill Harris and Gene Quiram.
